All Saints Hall
Needs Your Love

A living part of Fitzroy history...

Architectural Significance

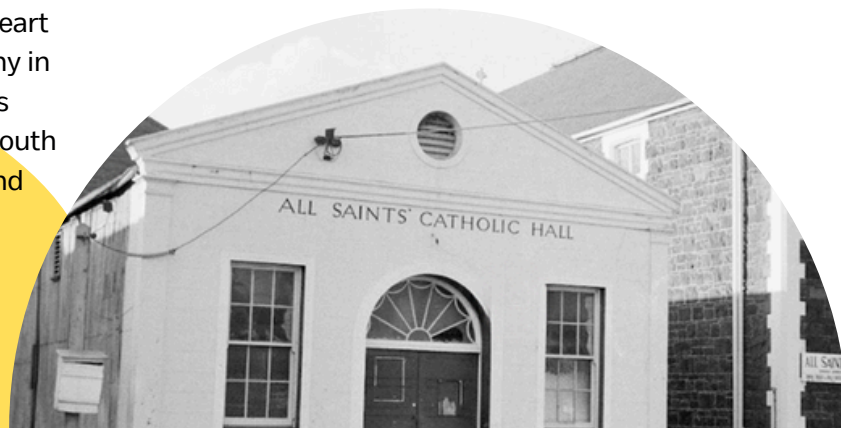

Starting life as a horsehair factory sometime before 1855, All Saints Parish Hall, Fitzroy is heritage listed as a rare example of a prefabricated commercial iron building in Melbourne. Built by Edwin Maw in Liverpool, UK it was imported during the Gold Rush and is the only known Maw building in Victoria. Its stone facade was added in 1872 when it became a Rechabite temperance hall.

Faith and Mission

From Rechabite Hall to Wesleyan Sunday School, Methodist Jubilee Hall, Catholic Parish Hall, and a place of worship for Coptic Catholics, our Hall has provided a place of faith and mission for the people of Melbourne for more than 150 years.

Education and Community

The Parish Hall is an integral part of Sacred Heart School. Home to their award winning "Harmony in Strings" music program, the Hall also hosts Breakfast Club, Cubs and Scouts, Australian South Sudanese Community Elders' Council Inc and community events.

Restoration Appeal

Help us preserve the heritage and future of All Saints Hall, a cornerstone of faith and community.

We aim to

Rescue, Restore, Renew

our beloved Hall

Under the auspices of The National Trust, an initial fundraising target of $460,000 has been set to address urgent remedial works to the building and ensure the hall is safe for use.

A generous person has already donated $30,000 to help launch this appeal. We are now seeking your support to ensure that the hall will be a treasured community asset for another one hundred years!

Every contribution, big or small, matters—All Saints Hall needs your love! Make a difference.
